FACULTY

Kevin Lee
Counsel and Adviser

Kevin Lee acts as counsel and adviser to States, corporations, international organizations and individuals in State-to-State disputes, disputes between foreign investors and States, and disputes between commercial parties.

He has appeared as counsel before a variety of international courts and tribunals from the Permanent Court of Arbitration, to the International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes and the International Tribunal for the Law of the Sea. In his areas of specialization, he has also been engaged as Consultant to the Council of Europe, Expert to the South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation, and Young Amicus Curiae to the Singapore Supreme Court.

Kevin has taught international law and arbitration at the National University of Singapore, University of Naples Federico II, American University of Armenia, and Zhejiang University.

Oommen Mathew
Managing Partner of DWF,
Singapore office

Oommen has acted as lead counsel in dispute work and in particular international arbitrations (both in Europe and Asia) for the last 20 years. He has been lauded for his incisive advocacy and client management skills. He has acted in a wide spectrum of disputes ranging from transport, media, energy (both oil and gas and renewables), infrastructure and corporate shareholding, and has represented sovereigns, state owned entities, multinational companies and high net worth individuals. He has also acted as sole legal advisor in national enquiries.

Oommen sits on the Strata Titles Board in Singapore, appointed by the Minister for National Development, which hears disputes involving subsidiary proprietors and management corporations in office and residential strata space. He also teaches as an adjunct lecturer in the Sorbonne-Assas University LL.M. programme and has co-authored a book on arbitration practice in Singapore and another book on court rules.

Malik Laazouzi
Professor of Private Law,
Paris II Panthéon-Assas University

Malik Laazouzi is full-time Professor of Law. He teaches at the University of Paris II Panthéon-Assas (International and European Environmental Law, Investment Arbitration and International Commercial Arbitration, Law of International Contracts, Private International Law).

Pr. Laazouzi is a member of the French Committee on Private International Law, the French Committee on arbitration, and a member of Trans Europe Experts. He is also a member of the Board of Directors, the Executive Board and the Selection Committee of the International Academy for Arbitration Law (Arbitration Academy).

The Sorbonne-Assas International Law School Short Program is a 3-week academic program, giving the students an in-depth and concrete knowledge of international business transactions law.

This program allows participants to get familiar with International Business Law major topics and acquire a theoretical and practical understanding through lectures, case studies, group work and other exercises. The Sorbonne-Assas International Law School Singapore campus is located in the INSEAD Business School campus, easy access and relaxed environment. The Winter Short Program is also an opportunity to discover the city of Singapore.
