A WORD FROM THE CO-FOUNDER AND DIRECTOR OF STUDIES OF THE LLM COURSE

"Our LLM course was created 7 years ago in Paris, and since then some 200 construction professionals from many regions across the world benefited from it, either in face-to-face mode in Paris or online from the comfort of their home or working place. Owing to the ever growing number of applications we receive every year, we decided to also propose our course in Singapore so as to offer those living in the Asia-Pacific region the chance to have an access to the same programme that we run in Paris but in a more suitable time zone, and with insights into the regional law and practice specificities to be accounted for on their projects. International excellence with a regional touch, and first-class lecturers coming from various angles of the industry, are the driving forces of our new Singapore class: we can't wait to welcome you aboard!"

A WORD FROM THE DIRECTOR

"We are proud to offer in Singapore this LLM course in International Construction Contracts, a course that we have been running successfully for several years in Paris. This course is aimed at providing professionals working internationally with the required combination of legal, management and practical skills to ensure good and efficient contract management on construction projects. What makes this course unique is its in-depth analysis of construction law from both a common law and a civil law point of view, reflecting the variety of legal systems around the world, including across the APAC region. It is based on an optimal blend of academic and practical knowledge, combining lectures, case studies and tutorials with group work. The course is structured around 6 main modules which follow the life cycle of major construction projects from their inception to their completion, including (i) contracting strategy and allocation of risks; (ii) preparation, drafting and negotiation of construction contracts; (ii) contract administration; and (iii) management of claims and disputes. Expect a course that bridges the gap between practice and theory."
